

1. Identify the main components of the system. List the hardware, software, and data elements that make up the system.

2. Describe the system's purpose and objectives. Explain why the system was developed and what it is intended to achieve.

3. Explain the system's architecture. Describe the overall structure and organization of the system, including the flow of data and control.